

”the language of poetic line”

This painting expresses and illustrates our infinite internal dialog.
A dialog between the Ego & Spirit, which are represented by the stylized figures bent over (In prayer or meditation) in the lower left & upper right corners.

Inner-Dialog 96" x 48"

The sweeping curved lines represent "thought".
As these thoughts emanate from both Ego & Spirit... they circle and engage... at times fading out of consciousness... and at times, complementing each other.

And with this complementary thought, we enter into an agreement, a balance between our Ego & Spirit.
Leaving us content within ourselves, and just as important, compassionate to those around us.

Heartstrings 36" x 48"

heartstrings

Do you play a musical instrument?

Oh, yes!

Which one?

The Heart.

Really? You play the Heart!

Everybody plays it.

*It's not that hard,
but at times it's not that easy.*

*The beauty is, it's in your hands
all the time. With practice, it can literally play by itself.*

*So it's truly up to you,
how lovely a melody you wish to play
for those around you lucky enough to hear.*

*One tip... be gentle,
and try not to break any strings.*

Inspiration 48" x 66"

inspiration

*It comes to you in many forms,
but make no mistake about it – it's a force
that hits you right between the eyes.
Opening them up to see,
for even an instant – the champion you are.*

But what we make of it is all the difference.

*Inspiration... it is dancing to the rhythm of the universe's beating heart –
sending waves of love to flood all your senses...*

Damn, what you can see with a little inspiration.

In your turbulent world-
there is a place where you'll find yourself's floating in a space so peaceful and you'll feel your soul tickled by a current of energy, that transforms all the noise into a sweet lullaby.
